Comment:

Are airports considered a "hot spot" for the Emmission Inventory Criteria".
If not, why not?

I live 1 mile south of the Hope (Burbank) airport.
Some days when I go out to get my morning paper, the air is putride with the stink of aircraft pollution.

This problem seems to have given me asthma (which I didn't used to have).

What regulations and agency department monitors this problem?

Thank you for your consideration of the above, and information you can give me regarding the same.

Oct. 25, 2006

This is my second message to this site.
I did not see my first listed as having been received as a formal comment for review.

Earlier this month (wk. of 10.8.06, or 10.15.06), on a overcast morning, I went out side the house to get our morning newspaper. When I opened the door, I was overwhelmed with a thick pollution odor, due to the heavy traffic we had that morning from the Hope (Burbank) airport. I had to hold my sweater over my nostrils in order to proceed to get the paper.

This phenonomen, to one degree or another, is fairly common, and very unwelcome. (We live 1 mile So. of the airport). I now suffer from asthma, something which has afflicted me since the volume of aircraft at the airport has steadly increased.

Questions:

. Whom from this agency monitors such emissions?
. How do I find out the status of pollution emissions from this airport, and how they relate to required standards?

. The airport is due to present itself at a State Variance hearing soon. Is anyone from this agency assigned to present the pollution problem and situation at this hearing? Obviously, this is needed.

Thank you for your response to my inquiries.
Please send communications to me at the address listed below, as well as the results of the B2588 "Hot Spots" hearing.
