Dr. Charlton H. Jones
6 Zetta Drive
Washington, MO 63090

12 March 2008

To the California Air Resources Board

Please do not delay the production of significant numbers of Zero-Emission Vehicles. The technology is very viable and the automakers can build them. More importantly, consumers will buy them and make our air cleaner.

I drive an electric car that I converted myself. More will drive ZEVs if they become commercially available.

California sets the standard for the nation — do it strongly!

Sincerely

Charlton Jones
professor emeritus, Oglethorpe Univ.