During the LA auto show press day on November 19th, the Volkswagen Group plans to have an hour long discussion and presentation about fuel cell vehicles and hydrogen as a transportation fuel. We would very much like to invite you and other CARB staff to this event. Some selected media will also be invited.

The event will be held in a separate room at the auto show location from 12:30 to 1:30. We realize this is during the CARB "walk-through" that will take place that day, but we have juggled the visit schedule with the Alliance such that the 12:30 – 1:30 slot will be a lunch break and the VW time slot, so our proposal is that some CARB staff could visit the fuel cell presentation while other members of the CARB delegation could visit the VW booth, with both parties linking back up after the VW time slot to continue the tour of other manufacturers.

I have sent this invitation to you four, but please feel free to invite any other CARB staff that you think will be interested. If I have a better head count as the event nears I will also make sure lunch will be available for the CARB staff that elects to hear the VW presentation in lieu of the scheduled lunch break.

Thank you very much for considering the invitation and I will provide more details on the location as the plans develop.

Best regards and looking forward to seeing you at the LA show,

Stuart Johnson
