Background: AB 32, the California Global Warming Solutions Act of 2006 (Assembly Bill 32 (AB 32); Nunez, Chapter 488, Statutes of 2006) is a comprehensive, multi-year program to reduce greenhouse gas (GHG) emissions in California. ARB has adopted a Scoping Plan and, together with other State and local agencies, has developed and implemented numerous regulations and programs, including the Cap-and-Trade Program to reduce emissions to meet AB 32 goals.

Any expenditure of State proceeds from the Cap-and-Trade auctions must comply with legislative requirements. State law directs CalEPA to identify disadvantaged communities for investment of Cap-and-Trade auction proceeds. SB 535 requires that 25 percent of the proceeds be invested in projects that benefit disadvantaged communities and at least 10 percent be invested in projects located within those communities. State law also directs ARB to develop guidance for State agencies on approaches to maximize benefits to disadvantaged communities.

CalEPA selected CalEnviroScreen as the tool to identify disadvantaged communities. In April 2014, the Office of Environmental Health Hazard Assessment released CalEnviroScreen Draft Version 2.0, <http://oehha.ca.gov/ej/ces2.html>, which ranks communities based on numerous indicators that reflect pollution burdens and population characteristics.

We are seeking input on:

- The identification of disadvantaged communities for priority investments of Cap-and-Trade auction proceeds. Information about approaches to identifying disadvantaged communities will be available at <http://www.arb.ca.gov/auctionproceeds> by August 15.
- Interim guidance for State agencies to maximize benefits in disadvantaged communities including criteria to determine which projects benefit disadvantaged communities. ARB draft concepts will be available at <http://www.arb.ca.gov/auctionproceeds> by August 15 August 20 (Updated).
