CALENDAR LISTING

WHAT: The CAPCOA Climate Change Forum is a two-day conference that will focus on how new federal climate change legislation and EPA promulgations under the Federal Clean Air Act will impact the implementation of California's AB32, the Low Carbon Fuel Standard, and other key initiatives. The Forum will be held in San Francisco, a city with a strong history of support for progressive and proactive environmental protection initiatives. Over 700 attendees are expected from the public and private sectors, including elected officials, government employees and agencies, academics, technology providers. This event will feature general sessions, breakout sessions, networking events, and a tradeshow.

WHEN: Monday, August 30 –Tuesday, August 31, 2010
8:00am -5:00pm

WHERE: San Francisco Marriott Marquis Hotel
55 Fourth Street, San Francisco, CA 94103
415.896.1600, www.marriott.com

WHY: The CAPCOA Climate Change Forum will discuss how to optimally integrate and harmonize California climate policy with Federal programs to allow development of the most effective strategies possible in the fight against climate change. All sessions are designed to equip attendees with the knowledge and information needed to make proactive and progressive decisions for their businesses and communities. The CAPCOA Climate Change Forum is an exceptional opportunity to engage with industry and policy leaders and join in the climate discussion.
