ARB alleges that from July 1, 2010 to March 26, 2014, Claire's Stores sold, supplied, and offered for sale in California a product named Icing Nourishing Nail Polish Remover that is subject to the volatile organic compound (VOC) limit for "Nail Polish Remover" category in Title 17, California Code of Regulations (CCR), section 94509(a).

2. ARB alleges that the Icing Nourishing Nail Polish Remover products referenced in recital paragraph 1, contained concentrations of VOCs exceeding the 1 percent State standard for "Nail Polish Remover" category specified in Title17, CCR, section 94509(a).

3. ARB alleges that if the allegations described in recital paragraphs 1 and 2 were proven, civil penalties could be imposed against Claire's Stores as provided in Health and Safety Code Sections 42402 et seq. for each and every unit involved in the violations.

4. Claire's Stores admits the allegations described in recital paragraphs 1 and 2, but denies any liabilities resulting from said allegations.

8. Each of the undersigned represents and warrants that he or she has full power and authority to enter into this Agreement.

9. SB 1402 Statement. California Health and Safety Code (HSC) section 39619.7 (Senate Bill 1402 - Dutton, Chapter 413, statutes of 2010) requires ARB to provide information on the basis for the penalties it seeks. This Settlement Agreement includes this information, which is also summarized here.

   The provision of law the penalty is being assessed under and why that provision is most appropriate for that violation.

   The penalty provision being applied is this case is HSC section 42402, et seq. because Claire's Stores sold, supplied, offered for sale, or manufactured for sale consumer products for commerce in California in violation of the Consumer Products Regulations (Title 17 California Code of Regulations (CCR) section 94507, et seq.). The penalty provisions of HSC section 42402, et seq. apply to violations of the Consumer Products Regulations because the regulations were adopted under authority of HSC section 41712 which is in Part 4 of Division 26 of the Health and Safety Code. The penalty provisions of HSC section 42402, et seq. apply to requirements adopted pursuant to Part 4.

The manner in which the penalty amount was determined, including aggravating and mitigating factors and per unit or per vehicle basis for the penalty.

Penalties must be set at levels sufficient to discourage violations. ARB considered all relevant circumstances in determining penalties, including the eight factors specified in HSC section 42403.

Under HSC section 42402, et seq. the penalty for strict liability violations of the Consumer Product Regulations are a maximum of $1,000 per day of violation, with each day being a separate violation. In cases like this involving unintentional first time alleged violations of the Consumer Product Regulations, the ARB has sought and obtained penalties of approximately $20,000 per ton of excess emissions of VOCs attributable to the violation. This represents an average cost to retire a ton of volatile organic compound emission credits and reformulate a product to comply with the Consumer Product Regulations. In addition, the ARB has in other similar cases sought and obtained further penalties for investigative costs. In this case the total penalty is $5,100.00 as there were 0.26 tons of alleged excess VOC attributable to the violation. This represents a penalty of approximately $15,000 per ton excess emissions plus the cost of the investigation. The penalty was reduced because Claire's Stores immediately ceased sales of the products, made diligent efforts to comply, and cooperated with the investigation. Penalties in future cases might be higher or larger on a per unit basis.

Is the penalty being assessed under a provision of law that prohibits the emission of pollution at a specified level, and, if so a quantification of the excess emissions, if it is practicable to do so.

The Consumer Product Regulations do not prohibit emissions above a specific level, but they do limit the concentration of VOCs in regulated products. In this case a quantification of the excess emissions attributable to the violations was practicable because Claire's Stores provided sales data and product formulation data. Based upon this information (which Claire's Stores has designated as confidential) , the violations were calculated to have caused 0.26 tons of alleged excess emissions of volatile organic compounds to be emitted to the atmosphere in California.

10. Claire's Stores acknowledges that ARB has complied with SB1402 in investigating and settling this case. Specifically, ARB has considered all relevant facts, including those listed at HSC section 42403, has explained the manner in which the penalty amount was calculated, has identified the provision of law under which the penalty amount is being assessed and had considered and determined that while this penalty is not being assessed pursuant to a provision of law that prohibits the emission of pollutants at a specified level, it is practicable for ARB to quantify the excess emissions from the alleged violations, has done so and has included this information in this Settlement Agreement.

11. Final penalties were determined based on the unique circumstances of this matter, considered together with the need to remove any economic benefit from noncompliance the goal of deterring future violations and obtaining swift compliance, the consideration of past penalties in similar negotiated cases, and the potential costs and risk associated with litigating these particular violations.

12. The final penalty in this case was based in part on confidential business information provided by Claire's Stores that is not retained by ARB in the ordinary course of business. The penalty in this case was also based on confidential settlement communications between ARB and Claire's Stores that ARB does not retain in the ordinary course of business either. The penalty also, reflects ARB's assessment of the relative strength of its case against Claire's Stores, the desire to avoid the uncertainty, burden and expense of litigation, obtain swift compliance with the law and remove any unfair advantage that Claire's Stores may have secured from its actions.
