Subject: As a Hispanic, I decline state statuer

Comment:

Taxation without representation.

given history of party politicians, despite our Constitutional Republic, we are denied to follow our Constitution to uphold We the People to govern. It is our fault and The People allowed this through ignorant voting encouraged through politicians. Former President Adams expressed that well.

However, you pay no attention to any citizen who doesn't have a piece of paper to distinguish professionalism regardless of knowing such parchment is not defined to the owners intelligence.

I decline to this states idealism. For illegals, as much as your words lack any backing, would hurt them. This action goes against your support for them. To include, working class, welfare government dependent class, and rich. Despite the rich denial, it must be true that no humans actually agrees with this stature. Unless 1, their is another agenda, such as personal, political, and or corporate gain.

Subject: Prohibition of gas power cars

Comment:

Good morning.
I am concerned with the new rules regarding the sale of gas cars. If have you considered how long it takes to drive from L.A. to San Jose for an electric vehicle? With gas it is approximately 5-7 hrs depending on destination when going south. In an electric car one must add another 2 hours at least. There is no electric car that can make that trip without recharging. By requiring CA citizens to only buy electric, you will be forcing people to not travel keeping them in their part of the state.
I am a lifelong CA resident and a traveler. You will be forcing me to not travel with my trailer. There is not and best that I can tell no electric truck that can pull a trailer more than 100 miles at a time being manufactured or even on track to being manufactured. This new regulations will keep people from seeing this beautiful state. How do you propose for us to go camping in our forests and parks.
I understand that we need to do better on emissions but throwing out both the baby and the bath water is not the answer.
What is the proposal for law enforcement cars? If CHP can't buy gas cars in CA then how will they afford to buy from out of state? That is a burden on the taxpayers. Also, if they have to drive electric then how do you suppose officers are supposed to drive hundreds of miles a day and be ready to be available if they are having to recharge. This is also an additional burden on the law enforcement agencies. This would force agencies to need more officers available to cover when a car is charging. More burden on cities and taxpayers.
I think choice and education is better for all.
