Subject: HVIP Comment

Comment:

CARB Board - Thank you for reviewing my comment. As a small transit operator in the Central San Joaquin Valley, the City of Clovis is acutely aware of the need for cleaner air. Clovis Transit has launched a pilot project to deploy two cutaway-style buses into public transit operation. The data learned from this project will help us thoughtfully move forward into compliance with the 2018 CARB rule, the ICT.

The purchase of these two pilot project vehicles was made possible with the help of the HVIP program. Without HVIP, this project would not have been possible. Programs like HVIP are critically important to transit operators all over California, but are a lifeline for the small- and medium-sized operators in the state.

Compliance with the ICT is a challenge, and transit industry will continue to need the generous support of CARB to assist with the transition to ZEV/ZEB. Please consider the extensive impact of ICT to the transit industry and understand that without significant investment through HVIP and other programs, many transit operators will struggle to deploy ZEV.

Thank you.
