OLD TOWN SAN DIEGO, CALIFORNIA

Mason Street School

Built 1865, first in San Diego County, then 14,800 square miles in area. Soon outgrown, it was moved, became a residence and later, The Old Town Tamale Factory. Returned to original site, restored and maintained by San Diego County Historical Days Association. The Mason Street School hosts San Diego's Unified School System's Fourth Graders every school day, and conducts adult classes in California history.
