3. To advocate for joint participation between obligated parties and biofuels producers.
4. To record the input, opinions and issues of all stakeholders (e.g. obligated parties, biofuels producers, State of California, citizens) and to rank in some fashion for future consideration/resolution by the ARB
5. To put in place mechanisms/processes that will facilitate quicker, lower-risk permitting of new, modern biofuels facilities within the State of California to aid in LCFS compliance.
