Dear Chairman Nichols:

Hello, I am a student from Oakland High School. The reason that I'm writing to you is that I'm concerned about the air quality in the city of Oakland. At school, we have been taught that in polluted areas people are more likely to get asthma. I believe environmental justice should be applied to every part of the U.S. It is not fair that people that live in lower-income house areas have to put up with higher risks of getting respiratory complications due to their economic status or place of residence. I hope you will be able to address this case because everyone should be entitled to having clean air. Diesel Trucks should be regulated in that they don't release that much PM (particulate matter). Please take the problem into consideration.

Sincerely,

Chabeli Huang
