CLEANER CARS * CLEANER AIR

Dear Chair Nichols:

California has made tremendous progress in cleaning up our air over the past forty years. However, over 9,000 people still die prematurely each year due to air pollution, according to the American Lung Association and air pollution still plagues California's biggest cities causing asthma attacks especially among children and the elderly.

California's Clean Cars Program is set to bring the next generation of clean, low-polluting cars and light trucks into the driveways of California families. I urge the California Air Resources Board to adopt the strongest possible standards for all of the state's important clean cars programs.
