

Leslie Eudy

Sr. Project Leader

Transportation and Hydrogen Systems Center

Leslie is a senior project leader in the Hydrogen Technology Validation Group at the National Renewable Energy Laboratory. She manages projects evaluating advanced technology in heavy-vehicle applications with a focus on fuel cell and electric transit buses. This involves coordination with various partners to collect data and assess the progress of the technology in comparison to baseline technology vehicles. She has worked at NREL for 17 years.